Changes to a student's programme of study

Disclaimer

Belfast School of Theology (BST) endeavours to deliver courses and programmes of study in accordance with the description set out in the prospectus.

Although reasonable steps are taken to provide the programmes and services described, BST cannot guarantee the provision of any course or facility and may make variations to the contents or methods of delivery of courses, discontinue, merge or combine courses and introduce new courses if such action is reasonably considered to be necessary by BST.

Such circumstances include (but are not limited to) lack of demand, departure of key staff, changes in legislation or Government policy, or other circumstances beyond BST's reasonable control.

If BST discontinues any courses, it will use its reasonable endeavours to provide a suitable alternative course. If BST is unable to offer a suitable replacement programme, the College will use reasonable endeavours to refer students to a comparable higher education provider offering a suitable replacement.

BST does not accept responsibility (other than through the negligence of BST or its staff) for the consequences of any modification or cancellation of any course, or part of a course, offered by BST but will take into consideration the effects on individual students and seek to minimise the impact of such effects where reasonably practicable.

BST cannot accept any liability for disruption to its provision of educational or other services caused by circumstances beyond its control, but BST will take all reasonable steps to minimise the resultant disruption to such services.
